

FEAR FOUR DEAD IN POWDER MILL BLAST ON COAST

Explosion in Western Community Second
Within Week

Tacoma, Wash., Dec. 2.—(AP)—Four men were reported killed or seriously injured today in an explosion which destroyed the mixing plant at the Columbia Powder Company, 15 miles south of here.

Company officials refused to discuss the blast but Under-Sheriff Clyde Knowles said the coroner had been sent to the blast scene after the company revealed that four men were working in the building.

The blast destroyed the mixing plant, which was isolated from offices and storage structures.

The explosion occurred shortly after the men went to work at 7 A. M.

Identity of the men in the building was not disclosed. "The company is withholding their names pending arrival of the coroner and a more complete identification by company officials", Knowles said.

Second Blast in Week
It was the second powder plant explosion in this area in the past week. A black powder unit of the Du Pont powder works exploded last Thursday.

The Columbia plant employs 60 men but most of them do not report for work until 8 A. M.

It could not be determined immediately if the company was engaged in manufacturing explosives for national defense purposes.

Only police officers and company officials were permitted inside the powder plant's heavily-fenced enclosure. The building where the explosion occurred is half a mile from the plant's entrance.

Because of a heavy fog it was impossible to see what damage had been done.

The Columbia powder plant was built five years ago on the site of the Foster-Newbegin lumber mill near Kapowsin.

DYNAMITE STOLEN

Bangor, Pa., Dec. 2.—(AP)—Theft of 880 sticks of dynamite and 8,000 blasting caps from a storage magazine near Bangor was disclosed today by Assistant County Detective John Ruppert, who said the missing explosive was "enough to blow this town off the map".

The detective said authorities were interested in finding the explosive primarily because of its "potential danger" but also because "it might be used for purposes of sabotage".

The theft was discovered last Tuesday morning, but was kept quiet, Ruppert said, because it was hoped to make arrests soon. To date, no real clues have been found, he added.

The explosive was taken during the night from three storage buildings about a mile and one-quarter from this eastern Pennsylvania town of 6,000 population. It was owned by Robert Bruch of Bangor, who held it there for resale to slate quarries in this slate-producing region.

ANTI-SABOTAGE LAW

Washington, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Saboteurs who willfully destroy or damage national defense materials will be liable to prison terms of 10 years and fines of $10,000 under legislation signed today by President Roosevelt.

The bill, introduced by Chairman Sumners (D-Tex.) of the House judiciary committee, applies penalties to those who interfere with defense preparations which formerly were applicable only when the nation was at war.

Logan-Walter Bill Sent to White House Today

Washington, Dec. 2.—(AP)—The house finally completed work on the Logan-Walter bill today, sending it to the White House, where some congressional leaders said it might be vetoed by President Roosevelt.

The house accepted senate amendments to the measure by a roll call vote of 176 to 51. The legislation would provide uniform standards of procedure for many quasi-judicial federal agencies, such as the labor board, and would expedite court appeals of decisions, orders and regulations of those agencies.

Democratic Leader Barkley of the senate said he would urge a presidential veto for the measure when the senate passed it by 27 to 25 vote last week.

The principal question was whether the veto message would be returned to congress in time for votes on overriding it before this session ends, probably a few days before Christmas.

Speeding Up

Much greater speed is now being made by all Chicago & North Western trains as a result of the new improved signal and train control system which has been installed during the autumn. The maximum speed of freight trains has been increased from 50 to 63 miles an hour. The highest speed of passenger trains has been increased from 73 to 83 miles an hour. The latest improvements have been approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission. Train controls on the locomotives have all been changed to the new method.

Judge Displaces Administrators Rochelle Estate

Judge Leon A. Zick, presiding in Ogle county Circuit court at Oregon Saturday, on motion of Attorney Thomas J. O'Malley of Chicago, nephew of Mrs. Mary Vaile and cousin of the Misses Kitty and Mary Vaile and John, Joe and Clarence Vaile of Dixon, with whom he spent the weekend, appointed Paul F. O'Neil, public administrator of the estate of the late Mary Healy of Rochelle, which has been in litigation since July 13, 1928, and at the same time named J. M. Weeks of Rochelle receiver for five pieces of Rochelle real estate involved in the estate.

Displaces Heirs

Public Administrator O'Neil displaces Charles H. Healy, Mabel H. Stevens, son and daughter of the deceased, as administrators of the estate, the court finding that there are no funds evidenced in the inventory filed to pay claims of $1,000 and interest from May 2, 1928 of the People's Loan & Trust Co. of Rochelle; $125 and interest from June 18, 1929 by the First National bank of Steward; and two of William H. McCarthy, one of $2,727 with interest from Sept. 1, 1934 and the other of $4,463.00 with interest from Sept. 10, 1935. Attorney O'Malley represented McCarthy in Saturday's action.

Judge Zick also found that Charles M. Healy is now a resident of LaSalle county and that he and Mabel H. Stevens have failed to establish their table of heirship to the estate, and that they had failed to take the necessary steps to have their accounting of their acts and doings approved by the court.

The law firm of Dixon, Devine, Bracken and Dixon of this city had legal connection with this estate in 1929.

Another Cold Wave is Due Here During Night

Chicago, Dec. 2.—(AP)—The greater part of the middle west, U. S. weather forecasters said today, would be assailed by another cold wave tonight.

The cold wave, which was described as moving southward from the northern Plains states, already has lowered the mercury to below zero readings in North Dakota and Minnesota. Last night's lowest temperature was 18 below zero in Devil's Lake, N. D.

The forecasters said temperatures in the Chicago area would drop to about 5 above zero to night and to zero to five above in southern Wisconsin. Only light snowfalls would accompany the severe weather, they added.

U. S. Releases "Flash Bomb" Technique to British Government

Toronto, Dec. 2.—(AP)—A recently-developed "flash bomb" technique, useful for night aerial photography, has been released to Great Britain by the United States Air Corps. Dr. Walter Clark, camera research expert of Rochester, N. Y., said here in a week-end address. He said the invention was especially useful since new defense measures of warning nations had made daylight reconnaissance impracticable.

American Plane Manufacturer Safe After Perilous Sailing of Atlantic

Miami, Fla., Dec. 2.—(AP)—The story of an American plane manufacturer's stormy eight-week crossing of the war-torn Atlantic from England to the Bahamas in a small sailing schooner—the last three days without food—was told here.

In a dispatch from Nassau, the Herald said Henry B. Clarke of Roslyn, N. Y., made the crossing in the schooner Marie with six men, after being machine-gunned by German planes before sailing. Clarke was quoted as saying that the worst of the voyage was crossing the German submarine patrol, stretching from Brest, France, to Ireland. The Herald said Clarke owned aircraft factories in England.

At Roslyn, Mrs. Clarke said last night that her husband, who had resided six years in England, called her when he arrived at Nassau two days before, saying he planned to return to New York late this week. He said he made the schooner trip when he was unable to obtain other passage to the United States. "They left Landsend, England, in my husband's schooner on October 6," Mrs. Clarke asserted. "Capt. James Stoner, who once took the racing yacht, Endeavour, across, was in command of a crew of five, all of them over military age. "The wireless broke down after a few days, and shortly after that a tremendous storm came up and blew them far off their course. They had intermittent bad weather for five weeks—from the Madeira islands almost to Nassau. "The Marie arrived at the Madeira islands October 27 and Clarke called his wife. She heard no more until the Nassau arrival, where the little ship put in with its larders empty."

OVER SCORE MET TRAGIC ENDS IN ILLINOIS SUNDAY

Hazardous Traffic Conditions Accounted for 15 of Them

By The Associated Press
Illinois counted a toll of at least 28 persons dead from violent causes during the week-end, an Associated Press survey showed today.

Ice-glazed highways and streets made driving conditions hazardous in many sections of the state. Automobile accidents were numerous and 15 persons died from this cause alone.

In addition, four persons were shot to death, three were asphyxiated, and the others died from miscellaneous causes.

Misphyxiation was blamed for the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. Michael A. Then and their son, Donald, 21, whose bodies were found last night in their newly-completed home at Wheaton. Deputy Sheriff Arthur A. Bennett said there was a strong odor of gas in the house. The parents' bodies were found in bed and there was evidence that the son had attempted to go to their rescue. Authorities said there was a gas stove and gas furnace in the dwelling. The Thens had moved into their new home just Saturday night from Chicago.

Woman Dies in Fire

The charred body of Mrs. Barbara Dahlquist, 32, was found yesterday in the ashes of her home near Geneva, and Kane county officials launched an investigation. Deputy Sheriff Cecil Reilly said the woman's husband, Norman Dahlquist, 35, related that he had left for Aurora as saying he believed the blaze started from an oil burner in the basement. Dr. J. W. Gray said part of the woman's skull was missing, but added that it could have been burned away in the intense heat.

Three Chicagoans were killed and two other persons injured yesterday when their auto and a Milwaukee railroad passenger train collided at a crossing west of Waukegan. The dead were identified as William Pisano, 46; Paul Dameno, 42, and Milke Miule, 48.

Crossing Fatalities
An automobile collision west of Belleville yesterday claimed the life of Mrs. Christina Middendorf, 80, of Belleville. At Springfield, Ill. Davenport, 26, was killed when his auto and a train collided at a grade crossing.

E. F. Burns, 74, Macon county humane officer since 1923, was killed yesterday at Decatur when his car and a Wabash railroad passenger train collided.

Heart Attack Is Fatal to Hunter

Joe Haumesser, 68, 3550 North Clarendon avenue, Chicago, dropped dead while hunting rabbits on the Paul Heigelst farm, route 1, Harmon at noon Saturday. He had spent the past week at the Heigelst home and Saturday morning started out to hunt rabbits.

At the noon hour when he had failed to return to the house for dinner Heigelst and his son started out to search for him finding his body, face downward, some distance from the house. Dr. K. B. Segner, coroner, was notified and ordered the body removed to the Preston funeral home, where he conducted an inquest Sunday morning at 10 o'clock.

Paul Heigelst testified that Haumesser had been complaining of a heart ailment for some time and before leaving the house Saturday morning, he took a heart stimulant. The coroner's jury returned a verdict finding that death resulted from a sudden heart attack. Haumesser is survived by his widow, one daughter and three sons. The body was taken to Spring Valley, where the Haumesser family formerly resided, for the funeral and interment.

FARM BLOC WILL FIGHT ANY CUTS IN AAA BENEFITS

Announce Stand as Navy
Tells of Wishes for Additional Bases

Washington, Dec. 2.—(AP)—President Roosevelt's announced plans for cutting ordinary government outlays to the bone produced rumblings of opposition today from members of the powerful senate farm bloc.

Senators Capper (R-Kan.), from the mid-western wheat belt, and Ellender (D-La.), from the cotton belt, announced they would resist efforts to slash government benefit payments to farmers unless farm income improved greatly.

This was the first open threat of opposition since the president announced last week that he would recommend drastic reductions in routine government expenditures because of the multi-billion-dollar additional costs of the defense program. Annual farm appropriations averaging well above the $1,000,000,000 mark for recent years were expected to be one of the chief fields for economy.

Higher Taxes Sure

Meanwhile, Senator George (D-Ga.), ranking member of the senate finance committee, gave it as his opinion that the corporate income tax rate might be increased to 30 per cent before the defense program cost is met. Higher individual income tax rates also appeared likely to him.

The present corporation tax rate is 24 per cent where the annual net income is $25,000 or more, with lower rates for firms of smaller incomes. George emphasized that he was taking a long-range view in discussing tax increases and did not know what specific steps would be taken in the next congress. He said higher corporation income tax rates might do business some harm, but there appeared to be no alternative.

Navy Command Reports

Meanwhile the navy's high command coupled formal reports today that the United States fleet was "probably the strongest single sea force in the world" with disclosure that additional sea and naval air bases were under consideration. Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations, revived the controversial issue over establishment of a strong base at the tiny island of Guam—on Japan's doorstep—with the declaration that advanced bases were necessary in both the Atlantic and Pacific to thwart any approach of hostile forces.

Stark's annual report, made public yesterday, discussed the strength and readiness of the fleet. It followed the same general lines of the report issued last year before by the secretary of the navy, informing the nation that on any comparable basis its navy was "second to none."

"Force Only Insurance"

Stark prefaced his recommendations for more shore bases with the declaration that "force is now the only safe insurance of national survival." "We should develop and maintain such bases in our own overseas possessions wherever they are needed," he added, "be it in Puerto Rico, Hawaii or Guam."

In that connection, he said further authorization and appropriation were needed. "The secretary's report asserted, however, that completion of the two-ocean fleet construction program must be pressed "to meet our naval defense requirements simultaneously in both oceans against any possible combination of powers concerning action against us."

In Quandary

Greenville, S. C., Dec. 2.—(AP)—A young married man who has just received a questionnaire from his draft board is in a quandary.

He confided to board members that he was expecting an heir at his house momentarily and would like to await the event before returning the questionnaire. If not, he would be forced to leave out a dependent, because to take credit for an additional member of the family before it arrived was too risky.

The board clerk could find no rules to fit the case. The man was given five more days.

Early Winter Has Speeded Pleas to Goodfellows Club

The Goodfellow fund has a long way to go before it will be big enough to do a real man-sized job of Santa Clausing in and around Dixon this Christmas time, but it is showing a healthy growth. Nearly one hundred dollars up to this morning.

The Goodfellow club wants the names of every boy and girl 12 years or under whose parents will be unable to provide them with a Christmas this year. We want the names, addresses, ages, etc., of the children and the names of their parents. Please get all names in at once so the Goodfellow Club can plan its work.

Best of Popular Tunes of Day Will Be Off Non-Commercial Programs Soon

New York, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Music of most of the contemporary popular composers, members of American Society of Composers, Authors & Publishers, will be gone from the non-commercial programs of all three major radio networks within a fortnight.

The song royalty battle began when A. S. C. A. P. sought a new contract for 1941 reclassifying the broadcasters into four groups and assessing them with a sustaining fee and a gross income percentage.

Radio men objected that this would double the $4,142,000 income A. S. C. A. P. received from radio in 1938. A. S. C. A. P. answered that the new plan would lower individual stations' costs and for the first time force the big networks to share the expense.

Britain Signs Spain to Financial Pact: German U-Boats Attack Convoys

The War Today!

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Mussolini is making a desperate effort with heavy reinforcements to remedy the already far-reaching effects of his Greek defeat without having to thrust aside pride and appeal to Hitler for help.

A fascist communique this morning reported that defending Italian troops had thrown back the attacking enemy in one sector. The victorious Greeks, however, claimed to have made important new advances all along their line.

That line, working on a pivot on the Adriatic coast near the Greco-Albanian boundary, is swinging across the mountains and valleys of Albania toward the sea like a wind-screen wiper.

This astonishing success of the little Greek army against the might of Rome is having a tremendous moral effect on both Britain and the neutral countries of the Balkans.

The Turkish press even claims, with evident relish, that the nazis have been balked in their scheme for assaulting England in the Near East by means of a drive across the Dardanelles. The British already are talking of the possibility of utilizing Greece as the gateway for a grand offensive by land against the German rear.

All this savors a bit of wishful thinking, of course, but there is no gainsaying that if the Greeks, with British help, can hold their own against Italy, they will have opened up an invaluable base for English operations against the axis.

It will give the British a land foothold against Hitler which they have not hoped to achieve for another year at best, owing to their inferiority in the air.

As a matter of fact the nazis have got themselves into a predicament from which it would be extremely difficult for Hitler to rescue them at this time. There are only two really feasible forms of help the fuhrer could give his air partner—one being with an air fleet and the other the sending of an army against Greece through either Yugoslavia or Bulgaria.

There can be small doubt that the violation of the nervous neutrality of either Yugoslavia or Bulgaria might precipitate a general Balkan upheaval, that is exactly what the fuhrer has been trying so carefully to avoid.

So far as air assistance is concerned, that would be valuable, though it would require a huge aerial navy to reduce Greece at this late juncture in the operations. While Hitler likely could spare a considerable number of planes, he wouldn't want to weaken his attack on the British Isles—an assault which is calculated in part to compel the English to withdraw forces from the eastern Mediterranean to defend the home land.

The present indications are that Hitler intends to let his partner work out his own salvation. If it does come to this, it certainly will be much better for the prestige of the axis which already has suffered heavily because of the fascist

FOUR HUNDREDTH BIRTHDAY

AN OLD Spanish doorway in Arequipa, which on October 12th celebrates with elaborate ceremonies and processions, its four hundredth birthday. The city, founded by the Spaniards in 1540, really was named Villa Hermosa de la Asuncion, or "Beautiful Town of the Assumption" in honor of the Feast of the Assumption which falls on August 15th. However, the name which has clung to the city since the time when it was a resting place on the old Inca trail leading from Cuzco to the coast—is Arequipa, a corruption of the Quechua name Arequipay.

Legend has it that when Marco Capaz was leading his people in search of Cuzco, the capital of the Inca Empire, they came to the place where Arequipa now stands. The climate here was so delightful because of the altitude, and the surrounding peaks of Chachani, Pichu Pichu and El Misti so dramatically beautiful that the Indians implored him to stop and rest here. The Inca is said to have answered "Are quepay," which means "yes—rest."

Present-day travelers use the city for the same purpose. Within two hours by air from Lima, Peru, featured in fortnightly cruises from New York—Arequipa is favored by many travelers as a quiet, off-the-beaten-track place in which to spend a vacation. It is particularly popular with artists and writers, who find here marvelous material for their work.

FDR Will Combine Fishing With Tour of Naval Defenses

Washington, Dec. 2.—(AP)—The White House announced that President Roosevelt will leave Washington today on a trip, the destination of which was not announced but which was expected to take him to Miami, Fla., and from there on a defense inspection and recreational cruise into the Caribbean sea.

Stephen Early, White House press secretary, told newsmen that the chief executive, following a conference with Admiral William Leahy, ambassador-designate to France, and the signing of a few papers would leave the White House to board a train for an unannounced destination.

"That's all I can tell you about that," Early added. Later he advised the reporters that Roosevelt expected to be gone from the capital until the week beginning December 16 "unless some emergency demands his earlier return."

"Pretty Well Known"

Early told reporters it was "pretty well known" where Roosevelt was going but that he could make no official announcement thereon.

Unofficial sources said preparations were being made at Miami for the president to embark there on a warship for a swing into the Caribbean defense area. He is expected to combine his favorite sport of fishing with visits to new or recently-expanded fortifications erected in the defense of the Panama canal.

The president indicated he expected to be away from the White House until almost Christmas when he declined an invitation to the traditional gridiron club dinner on December 14—the first he has missed since his first inauguration.

He wrote "with much regret" that he would leave Washington some time this week and would "in all probability be away until the week after the dinner."

Dwight Green and Family Enroute to Southern Resort

Chicago, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Dwight H. Green, governor-elect of Illinois, accompanied by his wife and two daughters, was enroute today to an unidentified southern resort for a two week's vacation—with part of his time to be devoted to a "thorough and uninterrupted study of the many duties which confront me."

Declaring there were "important matters of legislation I want to place before the general assembly at the earliest possible moment," Green, in a statement yesterday, said he would devote considerable time to the "study and preparation" of his inaugural address to the state legislature.

The newly elected Republican governor did not disclose his destination, asserting he wanted to be "uninterrupted so that I may be fully prepared to assume the duties of governor on January 13. I am not revealing my destination. I am seeking the indulgence of those who expect unceasing effort from me in the next four years." He planned to return to Chicago about December 17.

Before leaving for the south, via Washington, Green announced his endorsement of State Senator Arnold P. Benson, Batavia Republican, for president pro tempore of the state senate. The Republicans won a 28 to 23 majority over the Democrats in the November election and a Republican was expected to win election as president pro tempore in the new senate, replacing George M. Maypole, Chicago Democrat.

Mine Workers Attend Burial of 31 Blast Victims; Hunt Others

Cadiz, Ohio, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Workers at the Nelms coal pit turned out today for the burial of the first of 31 blast victims while rescue crews toiled in the first of 31 blast victims while rescue crews toiled in the gas-filled depths to remove the last eight bodies.

Funeral services were scheduled here at 2 p. m. for Pete Speicher, first of Friday's explosion victims brought out. Twenty-two other bodies were carried to the surface yesterday.

John Mullen, engineer at the Ohio and Pennsylvania Coal Company's mine, said four more bodies had been located but that gas and rock falls prevented their removal.

The others have not yet been found.

Mullen said it had been determined definitely that 31 were killed outright by the terrific explosion and buried under tons of rock upwards of 1,500 feet from the entrance to Ohio's deepest shaft mine.

Young German Air Ace Is Victim of British

Berlin, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Bursts from the guns of a British chaser plane ended the career of Major Helmuth Wick, 25-year-old German air ace, just at the moment he bagged his 56th opponent, informed quarters said today.

They reported that a comrade said he saw Wick bail out and descend to the water off the Isle of Wight and, although returning fliers mobilized the German rescue service, rescue attempts proved unsuccessful.

Wick's group was said to have been engaged in a fierce dogfight with a superior number of British Spitfires and Hurricanes at the time.

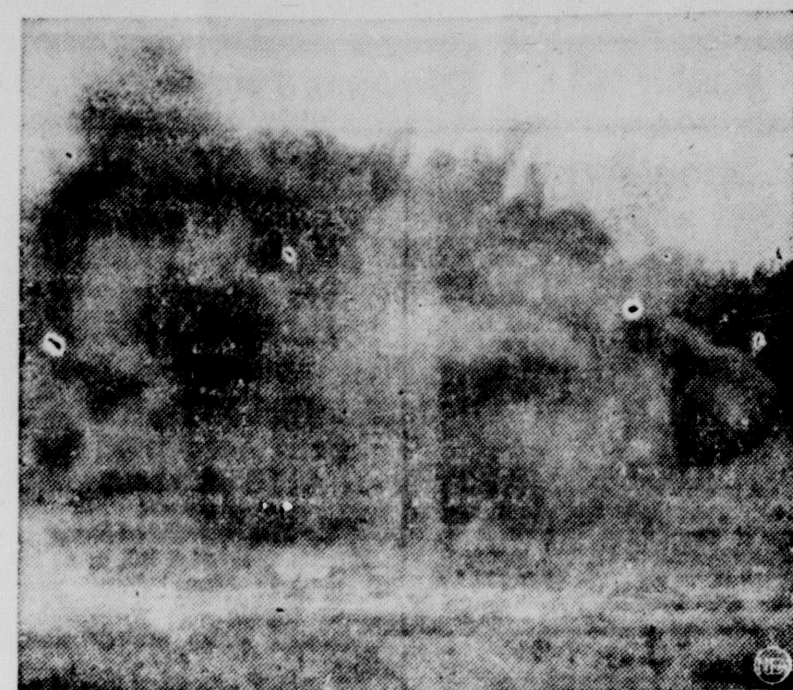

Wick, promoted to command of the famous Richtofen squadron October 25, was decorated by Adolf Hitler on October 9 with oak leaves added to the knight's cross of the iron cross.

Italy Develops a New High-Altitude Warplane

Milan, Italy, Dec. 2.—(AP)—New high-altitude planes, which the fascist press says will revolutionize air fighting, are being turned out by airplane factories throughout Italy, Secondo Campini, the inventor, said today.

In an interview in the newspaper Corriere della Sera, Campini corrected a report published yesterday by Il Popolo di Roma, which described his work as a motorless, propellerless craft shot through the air by gas.

The plane takes off with an ordinary motor and an ordinary propeller, Campini said, but in flight its power is increased four times by a new gas chamber developing its power from air heated and

New, Unfinished College Building Damaged by Fire

Chicago, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Flames raced through the uncompleted Institute of Technology building at Northwestern University today, causing damage which Harry L. Wells, university business manager, said might reach $500,000.

Workmen reported the fire was started when a salamander ignited a tar-covered tarpaulin in the center of the H-shaped building.

Fed by wooden scaffolding and the straw covering newly laid concrete, the flames spread quickly through about three-quarters of the structure, which is situated on the Evanston campus of the university, near the shore of Lake Michigan.

Five hundred workmen crawled out of the lower windows and scrambled down ladders to escape the blaze. One of them, Frank Heidenblaut, a mason living in Des Plaines, was overcome by smoke and taken to Evanston hospital.

The Evanston fire department, hampered by freezing weather and limited equipment, was forced to call for help from the Chicago department, which dispatched three engines and a divisional marshal.

Some flooring collapsed during the fire and it was evident that the heat had stained and cracked sections of the Lannon stone exterior of the building.

It was reported reliably that the loss was covered by insurance.

Wells said the work was from six weeks to two months ahead of schedule, and that the fire might not cause completion of the building to be delayed unduly.

STERLING WOMAN AND NATIVE CHILEAN SHARE PROGRAM AT WOMAN'S CLUB INSTITUTE

Dixon Woman's club members were granted a double privilege at their annual institute meeting held Saturday at St. Paul's Lutheran church, when Mrs. Carl C. Griesser of Sterling, collector of early American glass, shared the afternoon's program with Miss Mabel Isabel McCrimmon of Chile, traveler, lecturer, and artist. One-hundred clubwomen enjoyed the program, arranged by Mrs. W. B. Richardson's American Home and Garden department.

Mrs. Griesser illustrated her paper on "Antiques and Old American Glass", with glassware from her own collection and pieces exhibited by others. She spoke of the manufacture of glass as one of this country's earliest industries. As far back as 1608, she said, a glass factory was in operation near Jamestown, by 1680, the industry had spread into the territory of Philadelphia, and within 100 years, factories were in operation all over the country.

The speaker told her listeners how they might distinguish blown glass from molded or pressed patterns, and Sandwich glass, "Westward Ho", "Three Faces", milk glass, rose-in snow, wild flower, saw tooth, and other patterns were also discussed.

Upon gategate tables, Mrs. Griesser had arranged glass of various patterns, together with suitable flowers, for special occasions. She selected moon and star glass with milk glass plates and red geraniums and sweet peas, glass birds and cinnamon candy for St. Valentine's Day; red block glass, iron candlesticks with red tapers, green pine and cones for Christmas. Several pieces in the exhibit belong to Mrs. Helms of Sterling, mother of Mrs. W. B. Richardson of this city.

Mrs. George Nettz and Mrs. Earle Stitzel were the club members bringing the largest displays of glass for the occasion. At the conclusion of her lecture, Mrs. Griesser expressed the wish that she might "create a fresh interest in the happy pastime of finding a mate for an old piece of glass, and watch it smile in grateful appreciation".

Born in Chile
Miss McCrimmon, the second speaker, was born and educated in Chile. Her ancestors settled there many years ago, but were originally from Scotland. She displayed early talent for drawing and music, became an accomplished violinist and artist, and then came to America to study at the Art Institute in Chicago. She later returned to her native land and spent several years in the highlands of Bolivia, before coming back to Chicago to reside at the Three Arts club.

She appeared before her Dixon audience in a colorful Bolivian costume. From her, the clubwomen learned that her fitted jacket was made from velvet imported from Europe, embroidered with fine woolen threads of a native Bolivian animal, the vicuña. Her full, brilliantly colored skirt was woven and colored by hand.

Bolivians hold fast to their native costume, Miss McCrimmon said, in contrast to their neighbor, Chile, where the influx of so many foreigners has altered the manner of dress.

She was displaying her own extensive collection of the arts and crafts of Chile and Bolivia, including ponchos, saddlebags, scarfs, silverware, leather goods, furs and miniature dolls in native costume.

She explained the weaving and designing process, and told many interesting characteristics of her people. The two topsons (festive pins) worn crossed at the neck of women's jackets, for instance, are handed down from one generation to another. The topsons worn by Saturday's speaker were obtained from a native peasant girl who wanted "the price", in order that the girl's baby might have the honor of being born in a hospital.

Form Woman's Club
The Chileans are more or less primitive, the speaker stated, and the Bolivian has a more highly cultivated approach to life. She also spoke of the long struggle made by the women of her native land to organize a woman's club. "The women now attend and run their own club", she said, "but their men go with them to watch over them".

"Peoples of South America have been living in a paradise away from the rest of the world", she said in conclusion. "But now must come a change. The landed gentry is passing, and the middle class is asserting itself. Upon my last visit home, I noted with pleasure that the mineral baths which once were available only to the wealthy,

GEORGE WASHINGTON SAID:

"Excessive partiality for one foreign nation and excessive dislike of another cause those whom they actuate to see danger only on one side and serve to veil and even second the arts of influence on the other. Real patriots who may resist the intrigues of the favorite are liable to become suspected and odious, while its tools and dupes usurp the applause and confidence of the people to surrender their interests." From the Farewell Address.

Labor Is People

Thinking people of this republic ought to be fed up some day on the continued references to "labor" and "capital."

Labor means working people, of course. Presumably it includes miners, factory hands and all others who get dirt on their overalls and grease on their hands. No one knows exactly how many groups "labor" includes. Presumably, a drugstore clerk who sells toothbrushes is a laboring man—but how about the man who compounds prescriptions? The druggist who operates a one-man store, we suppose, is both capital and labor, and ought to fight himself now and then. Labor, any agitator will tell you, is a "class" of people. We don't like that "class" business, for to put people in a class indicates keeping them there, and the United States is full of people who once were labor, but are not labor any more. Labor is just people.

On the other hand, you have "capital." And we don't particularly like that reference, either. Capital is things. A machine is capital. A bin full of corn, an unsold suit of clothes, a 40-acre tract of land, a factory building, a check for $1, a note, a bond, and particularly a handful of currency—all are capital. Judging by the agitators, capital that is used for personal comfort—such items as automobiles, chairs and dinner plates, are all right. But capital that is used to operate factories that make automobiles, chairs and dinner plates, is all wrong and ought to be sabotaged at every opportunity. If factories did not exist, or if they did not have owners and management they could not make cars, chairs and dinner sets; but that doesn't seem to occur to the agitators. The fact that any laboring man can work to the top if he puts mind and heart to it does not concern the agitators. Right now, we can't think of a single chairman of the board of any automobile, rocking chair or dinner plate factory that was born in his job. Most of them worked up from the ranks of labor; a few didn't but before they got their chairmanships they had to demonstrate their ability and they have to keep demonstrating it every day.

One of the most serious blows that can be dealt our democratic industrial system is to divide the people into two classes, capitalists and laborers. To make the laboring man hate capitalism is to make it impossible for him ever to become anything but a laborer.

Hitler Is Still Promising

Once upon a time there was a French king who promised every one of his loyal subjects a chicken in the pot. As a promiser Adolf Hitler beats him all hollow.

Shortly before Hitler started wars all over Europe, the Fuehrer dreamed a great dream about every German owning his automobile. It was to be a people's automobile, ground out like German sausages.

A plant was really started. A sample car was really built. Money was actually collected from the workers.

But no cars have ever been delivered. Now he has dreamed another gigantic dream—nothing less than the building of six million homes in the ten years after the present war ends.

A man cannot skin a rabbit until he has caught it.

Even a dictator can't build on that scale until he has won his war and gathered enough money to pay the building piper.

Flank Attacks on the Pocketbook

These are hard and trying times for the patient American taxpayer. That admirable citizen realizes there are certain city, state and national expenses that must be incurred. He knows the bulk of the money for these necessary things must be raised by taxation in some form or other.

But what he objects to—and rightly so—are the often concealed flank attacks upon his thinning pocketbook, the niggling assaults embodied in a multitude of bills passed without rhyme or reason.

The National Consumers Tax Commission, Inc., estimates that the 43 state legislatures, which meet next year, will consider more than 60,000, of which 11,000 will be tax measures.

The commission predicts that, if the solons run true to form, they will enact 1800 of the latter, or an average of about 42 per state. It would seem a good moment to call for a moratorium on most of these.

Bombed Again Wilkinson

In palmy days before the present war there was no saucier figure in Britain's House of Commons than perky little Ellen Wilkinson, member for the business-depressed town of Jarrow. She was called "Red Ellen," not only because of her unruly mop of red hair, but also because she was a decided left-winger in the Labor Party.

In debate she was irrepressible. There was a red flame of courage in her. That same courage inspires her now as Parliamentary Secretary to the Ministry of Home Security, a job which keeps her close to besieged London.

Twice she has been bombed out of places she called home. After the last bombing, she sent a telegram to Jarrow where the folks were expecting her:

"Bombed again. Cannot come. Deeply sorry."

War Breaks, Then Mends His Heart

For the 67-year-old Sultan of Johore, one of the world's richest men, the Battle of Britain has meant first a broken heart, then a mended one. First, the British show girl of whom he was enamored was killed in an air raid. But he met another lovely young lady, Marcella Mendt, 25-year-old Rumanian girl, when he bought a Red Cross flag from her. They're pictured above in London after their recent marriage.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc., reproduction in whole or part strictly prohibited.)

Washington, Dec. 2.—Mr. Roosevelt has said he is satisfied with "most" of the defense progress. The way certain congressional phrase what may be the same idea, is that they are extremely dissatisfied with "some" of it. A member of a congressional military affairs committee tried for some weeks to secure from the general staff figures on available modern fighting aircraft. With persistence he was able to pry loose the latest data, but upon reading it he found it was so disturbing that he immediately destroyed it.

Something of the same dissatisfaction with current production obviously lay behind War Secretary Stimson's public blast against commercial plane production to the injury of military production.

Vague talk of an investigation is developing among congressmen, but it is doubtful that any strong step in that direction will be taken. The military committees may look into the subject when the next appropriation bills come up six weeks or so hence. The general run of congressmen, however, do not wish to lay themselves open to a charge of harassing the Defense Commission. It is strange that in Britain at war, an outstanding leader like Hore-Belisha is permitted to bark as he chooses against British plane production, while in the United States at peace, few, if any officials care to open the question seriously.

The talk in internationally well-advised financial quarters in New York is that Britain cannot stand this air devastation of her industrial cities more than three or four months longer.

The disquieting news comes by the usual financial grapevine from London and, therefore, probably represents what the British want the top American financial leaders to believe. The supplementary inference is that a "temporary peace" might be effected before the weather clears in the spring. This so-called inside information (not official of course and not without propaganda aspects) may explain the peculiar pessimism of the stock market during last week.

Washington is inclined to take the sensational suggestion at far less than its face value. The British obviously are embarked upon a campaign to promote utmost American aid including financial credits from those same private financial interests in New York. From every military standpoint available here, British position is regarded as serious but not nearly that serious.

Obviously all that Roosevelt would be required to do to unify the country for a great cooperative era of domestic peace and industry is to think the thing through as the president of the 22,000,000 who voted against him as well as the 27,000,000 who voted for him—and there is every indication that this miracle may occur.

Every word spoken by the president in his last few press conferences, every White House thought relayed through congressmen and officials since the election fever subsided, has indicated a quieter, more carefully balanced tone of policy in the making. If there was one matter which Roosevelt seemed earlier determined to pursue, regardless of opposition, it was the trend toward intervention in Europe. But even on this phase lately he has appeared to his callers weighing the effects of each step carefully.

She focused his binoculars, peered outward and down.

"Why Wes—it's that girl, Lona Montora! And she's coming into Rainbow Canyon alone!"

YESTERDAY, A thick hedge saved Wesley from serious injury. Ronnie hurries him home. The week adds to Wesley's misery. Saturday he walks out on the desert, sits a long while in the moonlight. Returning home, he passes Lona's apartment, sees Andre leaving. It is 1:20 a. m.

RONNIE CLIMBS A CLIFF

CHAPTER XIII

SOMEbody tapped on Wesley York's office door at noon, then opened it before he could speak. She came in like a part of the breeze itself.

"Well!" she beamed at him across his desk, violet eyes wide and full of mischief. "Your name is familiar but—I can't quite place your face! Have you been purposely hiding from me?"

He stood up. "Hello, Ronnie! Certainly good to see you!"

"Is it?"

"Certainly is. I—"

"Then why have you waited so long? Golly, Wes, I never ran after a man in all my life as I have to you! Leave your books and let's go flying."

"Thanks, but—another time. I've got to go riding instead."

"Riding, Wes? Some other woman, I bet!"

"Uh, no! No indeed!" He lapsed into seriousness for a moment, then realized she was still joking.

"Oh, I—no. I was just going to ride out to Rainbow Canyon. Big cliff dwelling there, and I want to measure growth rings on the ancient timbers in an effort to verify dates of construction, which according to Dr. Douglass will—"

"May I go, Wesley?"

"Huh? Oh. Why—why yes. Yes! Quite so, Ronnie! I should have thought to ask you myself. It would be a distinct pleasure to have you ride out with me. Yes, indeed!"

"Sure I won't make a three-some?"

"Ronnie, you are an inveterate tease!"

WESLEY YORK was highly exhilarated by this call from Ronnie Bailey. For days he had literally moped. He had avoided her, then sought her without success. Not that he had actually tried to telephone or call on her, but he had ceased dodging and had begun hoping to meet her casually. Fate is seldom kind in such instances, but now she herself had popped up in characteristic style.

She was like a chemical stimulant. In a matter of minutes she had lifted him. When he met her at the University stables half an hour later, he was like a man who had sluffed off 10 chronic worries.

He helped her mount a big palomino gelding.

"Rope, first aid kit, canteen, pistol, matches, emergency food, notebook and pencil, all in your pack and ready," he informed her.

"Lordy!" she looked down at Wes. "What is it, a polar expedition?"

Minimum requirements out here. It's several miles."

He watched her try her horse, first a trot, an easy second pace, a rapid gallop. He joined her then on his own bay.

"You ride well," said he. "Pretty, indeed."

"Why, Wesley!" She was still in light mood. "You are improving. You gave me a compliment and didn't even blush. And—wherever are your oogle glasses?"

He did blush then. He had hoped she would notice, and when she did it embarrassed him. But he smiled.

"I uh, took your advice."

"Stout fellow!"

"Ronnie, I did try this week to get in touch with you, but you were always away. You fly a lot."

"I was in Mexico. Andre wanted to go and—"

"Andre?"

"Yes, Wesley, please don't—don't harbor any feelings about that night. Andre is very impulsive, but he was awfully sorry he struck you, and no harm really came from it after all. I bawled him out plenty."

"I see."

"You won't—I mean, it's all right, Wes?"

"Of course, Ronnie."

"You're a dear."

A DEAR! She had said it. Wesley's soul responded as if it were a musical chord suddenly strummed by a sympathetic hand. Then, suddenly, the music with-

"Andre has taken a liking to Mexico so I fly down there often," she broke his thoughts. "We go to Hermosillo, Guaymas, anywhere. Lots of fun. He has some sort of business acquaintances there. Something about oil, I think."

"Mind if I change the subject, Ronnie? There is Rainbow Canyon in the haze. We'll be there in an hour but even now you can see the gorgeous coloring."

It was so. The landscape, ever changing, took on more splash of red and yellow and green. Thin desert air stirred their horses to speed. They were at the foot of the great red rock precipice which held the cliff dwelling in exactly 45 minutes.

"We climb the steep slope up hand over hand, then take six ladders," Wesley said. "Follow me, if you aren't afraid."

"I used to play follow the leader, little boy!"

They laughed together. It was good thus to climb and play, like children indeed. Wesley wondered if he dared break into song. He felt like it but didn't quite have the nerve.

The climb, itself a Grade-A adventure for most folk, lifted them 670 feet above the canyon floor. The dwelling was a three-story rock ruin in a great wind-eroded niche. It offered an incomparable view.

"O-o-o-o-oh!" Ronnie gave heartfelt tribute, gazing off.

Wesley handed her his binoculars.

She murmured in awe. "Vastness! Even our horses are like ants, standing in the canyon trees. It's marvelous, Wes!"

He nodded, understanding. "We have—some things in common," said he. "Some mutual likes."

HE was in no mood for work. He sat with her for an hour near the niche edge, looking off and talking. He told her much about the ancient people who had lived in this cliff citadel. The sun shadows lengthened and engulfed the canyon, so lest they lose too much light they explored the ruin itself, moving quietly, almost reverently, from room to room.

They came to a peculiar little third-floor ceremonial chamber and Ronnie peeped out a tiny window there.

"Company's coming," she said. "I see somebody else on a horse."

"Yes? Who? Here, take the glasses again."

She focused his binoculars, peered outward and down.

"Why Wes—it's that girl, Lona Montora! And she's coming into Rainbow Canyon alone!"

The Bears clinched the Western Division championship and the Redskins won the Eastern sectional title as the regular season closed yesterday. The Bears whipped the Chicago Cardinals, 31 to 23, and Washington turned back Philadelphia's Eagles 13 to 6.

Next Sunday's big battle will mark the first time since 1937 that the Bears and Washington have been in the final playoff. It was in 1937 that Washington, with Sammy Baugh giving a remarkable passing performance, defeated the Bears for the championship.

Principals for Three Grid Bowl

(By The Associated Press)

In the usual burst of post-season madness, the principals for three of the football "bowl" games to be played on New Year's Day were selected over the past week-end and one team was named for each of the other two contests.

The lineup, as it now stands, is: Rose Bowl (Pasadena)—Stanford, Pacific Coast conference champion, v. Nebraska, once-beaten champion of the Big Six.

Sugar Bowl (New Orleans)—Tennessee, unbeaten Southeastern conference title winner, vs. Boston College, also unbeaten and unofficially regarded as the east's champion.

Sun Bowl (El Paso)—Arizona State of Tempe, border conference champion, vs. Western Reserve.

Orange Bowl (Miami)—Mississippi State, unbeaten but tied once and runner-up in the Southeastern Conference, vs. a team still to be chosen.

Cotton Bowl (Dallas)—Fordham vs. team to be selected next week by vote of faculty representatives of Southwest Conference.

COACH WHO ONCE KICKED NEBRASKA OUT OF BOWL NOW SENDS A TEAM THERE

(By The Associated Press)

Lincoln, Neb., Dec. 2—(AP)—In 1928 Major Lawrence McChester Jones and his West Point football team kicked Nebraska out of the Rose Bowl.

Now on the first day of 1941, the same Major Jones will send a Nebraska team of his own onto the Pasadena field. His team has won eight games and lost only to Minnesota, 7 to 13.

The Huskers were an unbeaten team and considered a certain choice for the Rose Bowl invitation in 1928 when they went east to West Point for their final game. They were licked, 13 to 7.

The Nebraska team that Jones is now taking west is a precision outfit, well studied with colorful players.

There are 13 seniors on the team—13 seniors who have known plenty of bad days. Three years ago as sophomores they played on a squad that lost five games.

DIXON BOWLERS LOSE THREE OF FOUR MATCHES

The Three Deuces of Dixon routed the Oregon Playmates, 2295 to 2101, to preserve some of the local kegler's claim to bowling skill. Cy Winebrenner's 547 series was high for the match and he took high game with 211 in his first. Vrona rolled 501 to lead the visitors.

HARMON'S FOOTBALL HERO TO PRESENT HIM WITH THE "PLAYER OF YEAR" TROPHY

Chicago, Dec. 2—(AP)—Another honor came to Michigan's Tom Harmon today — with his one-time gridiron hero making its presentation.

Harmon was to receive the "Player of the Year" trophy from the Walling Wall Luncheon club, an alumni group which met throughout the football campaign and balloted on the season's standard stars. Harmon was to receive the award from Jay Berwanger, lead of a long list of football greats turned out at the University of Chicago before that school abandoned the sport a ago.

Berwanger, an all-America back at Chicago in 1935, was Harmon's idol when the Gary, Ind., boy was in high school. When Harmon came out for football as a sophomore at Michigan, he was assigned to No. 49, but insisted that he be given a number "one notch below Berwanger's." Harmon got that number—98—just a notch below the 99 that Berwanger carried so brilliantly for three years at Stagg field.

Alf Bauman, Northwestern's all-conference tackle, was named by the Walling Wall as "Lineman of the Year."

SIX MEMBERS OF ILLINOIS CONFERENCE TO OPEN THEIR CAGE SCHEDULES THIS WEEK

Bloomington, Ill., Dec. 2—(AP)—Six members of the Illinois Intercollegiate conference — Elmhurst, Eastern Teachers, Carthage, Southern Teachers, Eureka and Western Teachers—will open their 1940-41 basketball schedules this week.

Normal, defending champion of the conference, launched its season last night with a 45 to 31 triumph over its 1939-41 varsity, the first basketball team to win the championship for the college.

Elmhurst will play DePaul Tuesday at Chicago, while Indiana Central will travel to Charleston, Ill., for a game with Eastern Teachers the same night. On Wednesday, Joliet plays at Elmhurst and on Thursday Southern Teachers will entertain Arkansas State.

Principia plays at Eureka Friday. Saturday's program involves Arkansas State at Eastern Teachers; Western at Purdue; Southern Teachers at Western Kentucky; and Kirkville, Mo., at Carthage. Fred Heine, Elmhurst coach, is hopeful of a more successful season than last, having six lettermen as a nucleus for his squad. Four of those letter-winners were members of the varsity five in 1939-40.

Coach Ted Carson of Eastern is optimistic because he lost only one member from his last winter's squad—Al Ferchow. Coach William McAndrew of Southern will have seven lettermen to work with, but will miss three regulars of the 1939-40 outfit. Bill Wolfenbarger and George Welborn, guards, completed their eligibility, while Charles Gardner, a forward and captain-elect of this winter's team, did not return to school.

Winter Sports Kept Sizzling by Bowling Races

As much a part of the winter scene as the cold and snow outside is the steaming inside doings of the local bowling leagues. Tonight, for instance, the Ladies' league centers its attention around the battle for second place. The Lake-shire Marty and Budweiser Gardens quintets, now tied, meet each other tonight. The only hope of either team for getting into a tie for first place is to have the Rain-bow Inn leaders lose three games to Kathryn Beard's.

In the men's City League which rolls tomorrow night, two teams are tied for first place, the Myers Royal Blue and Plum Hollow. The former rolls the Post Office crew and the golfers meet Fallstrom's team. In second place, one game behind the leaders, is the Three Deuces team which rolls Strub & Schultz.

There's real dynamite in the big Classic League on Wednesday night when the Welty Pontiac leaders meet the Williams DeSoto, one of the teams tied for second and only two games out of first place. Knacks, the other club tied for second place, rolls the I. N. U. Sparks' leaders of the Commercial league meet the Candy Box on Thursday night. The Round-Up and the Reynolds Wire teams are tied for second place, two games out of first place.

The Major League leaders, the Dixon Cafe club, will meet Kelly's Budweisers on Friday night. The cafe team is holding a four game lead in the circuit.

Sports Roundup

By EDDIE BRIETZ

New York, Dec. 2—(AP)—Bob Feller would have been in the movies now if the Indians had won the pennant. . . . Nomination for the tops coaching job of the season: Clark Shaughnessy. . . . You can put a whole lot of guys in second place, but well take Tom Lieb of Florida. . . . Lew Jenkins, the lightweight king, has organized his own swing band and is available for bookings. . . . Up to now Connie Mack has nixed all offers to sell or trade Frankie Hayes—and he has had plenty. . . . Washington U. would have demanded a Rose Bowl showdown if Stanford had lost Saturday.

Why all the fuss?

Apparently Joe Louis takes Al McCoy more seriously than a lot of other people. . . . Anyway, the champ arrived in Boston for training armed with two baggage trunks loaded with training equipment. . . . Boston writers were as surprised as anybody, and some of them said so.

Odds and Ends

Few persons know it, but the day after he lost his first game with the Washington Redskins four years ago, Coach Ray Flaherty was given a ten-year contract by Owner George Preston Marshall. . . . New York, for some reason still unexplained, is awfully keen for a Max Baer-Billy Conn fight. Personally, we thought the Conn-Savold fight in the Garden the other night smelled to high heaven—not that there was any business done, the fight just smelled.

Laugh of the week

Those New Orleans bookies who didn't know the Brown-Columbia game was played during the morning and accepted bets right up till noon, just as if nothing had happened—and took the worst shelling since the fair grounds went out of business. . . . Haw!

Supreme Court of State May Decide A. L. Bowen Case

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 2.—(AP)—The Illinois Supreme Court, in its December term opening tomorrow, may rule on the appeal of former state Welfare Director A. L. Bowen from his conviction of omission of duty in the 1939 typhoid fever epidemic at Maitland state hospital.

Bowen's appeal from a $1,000 fine and an order of removal from office, imposed last June in the Kankakee county circuit court, was one of more than 150 cases on the court's docket.

For four months after his conviction Bowen remained in office, pending the outcome of his appeal, but resigned October 18 at the request of Gov. John Stelle.

Bowen's appeal petition alleged he was convicted on "wholly insufficient" evidence of negligence in the epidemic which claimed 63 lives.

Counsel for Bowen also challenged the right of the courts to remove from office an official appointed by the governor and confirmed by the state Senate.

Other Cases Pending

Justice Clyde E. Stone of Peoria will preside as Acting Chief Justice as the result of the recent death of Chief Justice Norman L. Jones. Among other cases upon which the court may rule during the new term are:

Appeal of John Howe, former state policeman, from a Cook county conviction on robbery charges.

Attorney General John E. Cassidy's appeal from an Appellate court ruling which upheld the Champaign county circuit court order quashing malfeasance indictments against Mayor James D. Flynn of Champaign.

An appeal testing validity of a 1939 Illinois law requiring a $25 title investigation fee to be paid by residents of the state who buy automobiles outside Illinois.

A petition of former State Rep. Arnold L. Lund (R-Riverside) for an injunction to block expenditure of approximately $73,000,000 in state highway appropriations on the ground the funds were not properly itemized by the legislature.

"Wash Day" Along Illinois Waterway Begins This Morn

Chicago, Dec. 2.—(AP)—It was "wash day" along the Illinois waterway today—by order of the United States Supreme Court.

But, instead of housewives, those officiating at the "scrubbing" were engineers and chemists, anxious to witness results of the first of 10 days' increased diversion of Lake Michigan water into the waterway.

On November 25 the Supreme Court authorized the Chicago Sanitary District to increase from 1,500 to 10,000 cubic feet a second the flowage of lake water.

This experimental flushing will continue until December 12 under the court's order and will act primarily to wash away sewage accumulated in the Brandon road pool north of the Joliet dam.

Lengthy hearings were conducted before Special Master Monte M. Lemann on Illinois' plea for a two-year temporary increase in the diversion.

Six other lake states opposed the Illinois request but gave their agreement for the 10-day experiment. Residents along the main channel of the waterway have maintained that sickening odors from accumulated sediment constitute a health hazard.

Chemists will study results of the flushing by taking approximately 70 tests of the water each of the 10 days the increased diversion is maintained. Water samples from a dozen points will bring the samples to laboratories in Stickney, Morris and Joliet.

ON RETIREMENT BOARD

DEANS OF WOMEN MEET

Kankakee, Ill.—(AP)—Bloomington and Normal, twin college towns, were selected as the 1941 convention cities of the Illinois Association of Deans of Women at the group's closing session.

Illinois to Ask Government Help Armory Program

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 2.—(AP)—The federal government will be asked to supply about 60 per cent of the funds needed for a $2,600,000 armory construction program in Illinois.

Adjutant General Leo Boyle said plans to build new armories in Chicago and ten downstate cities were dependent upon sharing of the cost by two federal agencies. The works projects administration and the public works administration both will be asked to participate, he said.

The state's share of the financing would be spread over a 20-year period through issuance of construction bonds by the state armory board.

To Ask $165,000

An initial appropriation of about $165,000 would be sufficient to insure state participation in the program, the adjutant general estimated. He said a request for such an appropriation will be made to the 62d general assembly, which convenes January 8.

Cost estimates of the state armory board allowed approximately $750,000 for a Chicago armory for the 131st infantry regiment and other National Guard units. Four armories to cost about $250,000 each were planned for Alton, East St. Louis, Joliet and Springfield.

Armories at Moline, Bloomington, Macomb and Paris would cost about $150,000 each, the board estimated, while others at Galva and Sterling were estimated at $125,000 each.

The cities would be required to provide sites for the buildings without cost to the state or federal governments, Boyle said.

Two Illinois Youths Alleged Counterfeiters

Harrisburg, Ill., Dec. 2.—(AP)—Clifton Clemens of West Frankfort, 21, and Tommy Hurst of Harrisburg, 20, were held in the county jail here today in lieu of $3,000 bail on charges of manufacturing, possessing and passing counterfeit 50-cent coins.

Sheriff J. T. Gramm said they were arrested as the result of an investigation by federal and state officers and both had signed written confessions which included an admission that Clemens made the coins in the kitchen of his home at West Frankfort and brought them to Saline county for disposal. Gram estimated that 180 coins had been passed and said only a few had been recovered.

Two other youths, both of West Frankfort, also are being held in East St. Louis for questioning in the same case, he added.

HAD HISTORIC BACKGROUND

Chicago.—(AP)—Mrs. Ollie Walker Coons, 72, who said she was a descendant of Col. John Walker, an aide-de-camp to George Washington during the Revolutionary war, died at her home here, apparently of a heart attack. She and her husband, Samuel, who preceded her in death 13 years ago, came here from Danville 30 years ago. Survivors include a son, daughter, 11 grandchildren and 25 great grandchildren.

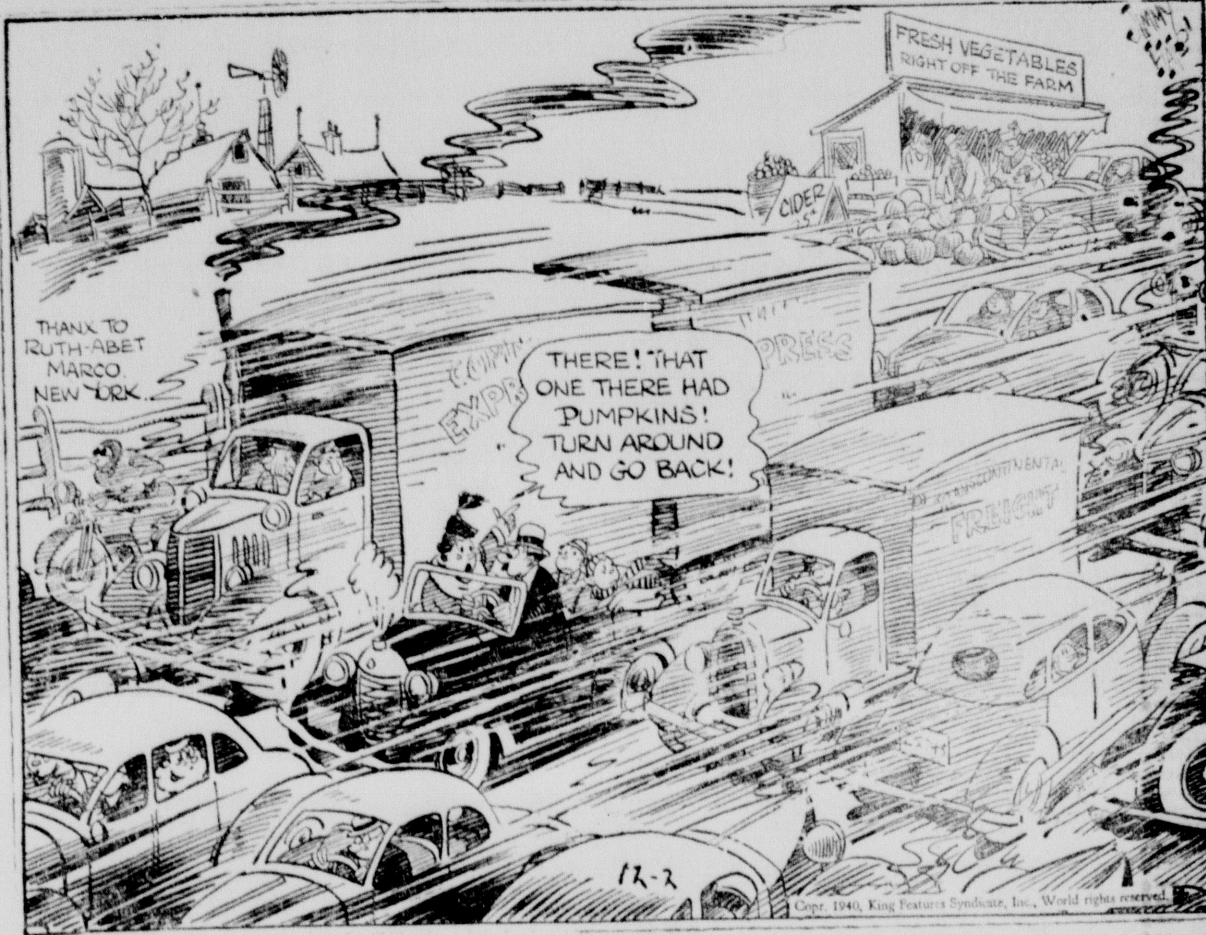

FUGITIVE CAPTURED

Peoria, Ill.—(AP)—John A. Bowler, 42, alias John S. Bradford, was seized by Peoria police in connection with the theft of a diamond stickpin and watch from a Canton, Ill., rooming house Wednesday night. Police said Bowler had escaped from the West Virginia penitentiary at Moundsville 12 years ago. Prison officials at Moundsville have been notified. Bowler, police said, had been employed at a Chicago hospital since his escape.

Kennedy Resigns; Third Ambassador to Quit Recently

Washington, Dec. 2.—(AP)—The resignation of Joseph P. Kennedy, ambassador to Great Britain, made a fresh gap today in the war-depleted ranks of United States ambassadors to European nations.

Kennedy announced that he was relinquishing the London post, after a White House conference with President Roosevelt yesterday. Pending appointment of a successor—a choice likely to be delayed—Kennedy said Roosevelt desired him to keep his designation as ambassador, but the envoy made plain he would not return to England in that capacity.

Kennedy's resignation, which had been in the president's hands since Nov. 6, pre-dated by a single day that of William C. Bullitt as ambassador to France. John Cudahy resigned last Thursday as ambassador to Belgium.

At present the United States has only two ambassadors at their posts abroad, Laurence A. Steinhardt in soviet Russia and Alexander Weddell in Spain.

Surprise Action

Kennedy's resignation came as a surprise for it was preceded by a number of such reports which the state department refused to confirm.

That choice of a successor might be delayed for some time was indicated by Kennedy's statement that Roosevelt was not yet prepared to make a decision and by Roosevelt's plans for an extended trip away from the capital.

As for Kennedy's future, the re-irring ambassador spoke only in general terms in his statement announcing the resignation.

"My plan is, after a short holiday," he said, "to devote my efforts to what seems to me the greatest cause in the world today, and means, if successful, the preservation of the American form of democracy. That cause is to help the president keep the United States out of war."

CONDITIONAL SALES CONTRACT SALE

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN That by virtue of a conditional sales contract made and executed by CHARLES C. KAPSCHULL to the CHAIN BELT COMPANY, dated the 12th day of November, 1938 and accepted by the CHAIN BELT COMPANY on the 14th day of November, 1938, and on which default of payment has been made, we will expose for sale at public auction on the 13th day of December, 1940, at the hour of two o'clock P. M., on the farm occupied by Clifford Hoggard located at the Southeast corner of the intersection of Highways 26 and 30 (formerly known as Highway 71) in the County of Lee, Marion Township, State of Illinois, the following described personal property, to-wit:

One Model 27E Rex Paver No. G-9515 with 6-cylinder gasoline engine, mechanical man 30-ft. boom, batchmeter, dual water tanks.

Dated at Milwaukee, Wisconsin, this 29th day of November, 1940.

CHAIN BELT COMPANY
BY G. M. Dyke
Assistant Treasurer.

Dec. 2-9-11, 1940.

Chicago, Dec. 2—(AP)—Miss Evelyn Asay, comely 4-H club farm girl of Mt. Carroll, Ill., owner of the junior champion steer at the 41st annual livestock exposition, today anxiously awaited the naming of the grand champion animal.

Miss Asay's 1,057-pound Hereford "Sargo", adjudged winner in the junior feeding contest Saturday, was one of the 297 steers entered in the competition for the grand championship. Her 17-month-old steer was winner over 450 animals entered in the junior contest by farm boys and girls from 11 states. The grand champion probably will not be named until tomorrow.

The 18-year-old Frances Shimer Junior College freshman had precedence in her favor of "Sargo" capturing the top steer award. Both last year and in 1938 the junior champion went on to become the grand champion of the show.

Other Illinois winners

Illinois exhibitors were among those awarded prizes in judging events during the weekend. The champion barrow of the junior show was a Chester White hog shown by Gene Moore, Barrington, while in the livestock events, the grand champion carcass, as judged alive, was exhibited by Glenn Lodge of Geneva, with the reserve title going to Dean Morgan of Aleo.

The junior champion steer was chosen from the three breed champions, Shorthorns, Hereford and Aberdeen-Angus. Helen Sadoris of Port Byron, was second in the Shorthorn steers, 1,150-1,400 pounds division.

Special "A" white corn, region three, F. W. Posharkey, Princeton, third.

Special "A" oats, region three, LeRoy Ludwig, Forreston, first.

Canadian exhibitors—including a 'teen-age farm youth who captured the title of oats "king"—today held a commanding lead in championship awards of the North American continent in agricultural crops.

The 1940 oats "king" is Paul Francis Pawlowski of Vilna, Alberta, one of seven motherless children, who was not present to receive the award. Judges named his sample of the Victory variety of oats the best on exhibit at the grain and hay show being held in conjunction with the exposition. Neighbors of the Pawlowski family at Vilna said Paul was "16 or 17" years old and that he was competing for the first time in "big time" agricultural exhibitions.

The alfalfa grand championship award was won by Hugh Steward of Weirald Sask. while the third Canadian grand championship was taken by Hugh Jeffrey, Whitby, Ont., who successfully defended his title as soy bean champion.

HINTS

If you wash your dog in salt water and keep salt around the kennel, he will not have fleas.

Grated lemon and orange rinds soaked in a little fruit juice for about ten minutes, and added to cookie dough, give the cookies a good flavor.

Snap fasteners are more easily sewn onto dark clothing if one-half of fastener is first sewn on securely then ball in the center of fastener is marked with chalk pressed against goods on other side. Chalk mark will show where other half of fastener should be sewn.

When blankets are being washed remember that the rinsing water must be soapy in order to make the blankets light and fluffy. Another point to be remembered is that all the waters in which the blankets are washed should be of the same temperature.

Boil your new clothesline for a while before you use it and you will find that it won't tangle, stretch or knot so easily. And if you want to make a weather-beaten clothesline look new and fresh, just wrap it round and round the washboard and scrub it hard.

One way to treat dry, horny cuticles and brittle fingernails is to soak the fingertips in glycerine for a few minutes every night at bedtime. The glycerine helps to make the cuticle smooth and nails strong and flexible.

ALL ABOUT JANE AND JIMMY'S MAGIC CHRISTMAS

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Ancient and Modern Necromancy, Alms Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, December 1.

The Golden Text was, "Look unto me, and be ye saved, all the ends of the earth: for I am God, and there is none else" (Isaiah 45:22).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Put on the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil. Stand therefore, having your loins girt about with truth, and having on the breastplate of righteousness; And your feet shod with the preparation of the gospel of peace; Above all, taking the shield of faith, wherewith ye shall be able to quench all the fiery darts of the wicked. And take the helmet of salvation, and the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God" (Ephesians 6:11, 14-17).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "At all times and under all circumstances, overcome evil with good. Know thyself, and God will supply the wisdom and the occasion for a victory over evil. Clad in the panoply of love, human hatred cannot reach you. The cement of a higher humanity will unite all interests in the one divinity" (p. 571).

TO THE MAN WITH A JOB WHO NEEDS A LOAN

How you can borrow $20 to $300 quickly and simply

NEED a cash loan? You can borrow $20 to $300—without endorsers or guarantors—if you can make regular monthly repayments. You needn't even come to this office to apply for your loan. Just send the coupon below or a letter for complete information without obligation.

Payments to fit your income
See in the table below how you may repay your loan in convenient monthly installments that fit your own income. Suppose that you need $100 and can readily repay $9.77 a month. The table shows that your installments will repay a $100 loan in full in 12 months. Or, if you wish smaller payments, as little as $6.43 a month for 20 months will also repay a $100 loan. (Loans also made in other amounts and for other periods. Ask for payments on any loan not shown.)

Payments in the table cover everything. They include charges at Household's rate of 2 1/2% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $150, and 2% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $150. This rate is less than the maximum prescribed by the Small Loan Law. Note that the sooner you repay, the less your loan costs.

No red tape
All you do to apply for a Household Finance loan is to acquaint us with your problem. We require no salary or wage assignment, no stocks or bonds. (Loans are made on furniture, car or note.) No credit inquiries made of friends or relatives. And you don't have to ask friends or fellow-workers to sign the loan papers with you. You get your loan quickly and simply.

Send the coupon now for free booklet containing full information. No obligation to borrow!
